Sample Preliminary Report

A preliminary report is a signed and dated formal report which sets out in detail the discovered condition of title on a particular piece of land.

Within a short time after a title order has been opened, all of the existing matters of record, relative to the title on the subject property, are assembled in the title search and examined by skilled technicians. At this time the preliminary report is prepared and sent to the customer. The report reflects the existing condition of title so that parties to the transaction will become aware of matters of record that affect the title. This report is issued before the title policy—hence the name Preliminary Report.

Those matters shown in the report are as follows:

1. The estate or interest covered.
2. The record owner of the estate or interest.
3. The parcel of land involved.
4. The exceptions, liens and encumbrances which affect the land at the date and time of the report.

The information discussed in this report is for education purposes... this is only a SAMPLE REPORT.

In this case, the ownership is “FEE” or “ABSOLUTE” which is the highest type of interest an owner can have – freely transferable, inheritable, and whose owner is entitled to possession. Schedule B – Explanation Page

- (13) The items following are the listed exceptions to insurance coverage (any transfer of this property will be subject to these items). There are charges, liens, encumbrances and clouds upon the title which must be considered by the lender in determining the value of his security, or by the buyer in determining acceptable condition of title.
- (14) Items A through F — Taxes! The county annually assesses every parcel of land within its boundaries. The County Tax Assessor makes this determination. It is the job of the County Tax Collector to bill and collect these tax amounts. Property taxes, authority for which has been created by the State Legislature, impose a lien which is superior to all other liens or encumbrances, except for those of the Federal government. Although taxes become due and payable on November 1st of each year, the lien is actually created on January 1st of the same year, as indicated by Item A.
- (15) Item B — This is the amount of taxes for the current fiscal year. These amounts must be paid by the delinquent date of December 10th for the first installment and by April 10th for the second installment. All of these amounts have been paid for the current year. The amounts being shown are for the purposes of proration or impound, if necessary.
- (16) Item C — This is a tax sale, which means the owner failed to pay the prior year's taxes. The owner has 5 years to pay the delinquent taxes including penalty and interest, which to this date is the amount shown here.
- (17) Item D — Bonds or assessments levied at the inception of construction of improvements (i.e., streets, gutters, sidewalks, sewers, etc.) are shown here which are normally paid at the close of escrow.
- (18) Item E — Effective on July 1, 1983, the Governor signed into law Senate Bill 813, Chapter 498, implementing a supplemental tax roll for changes of ownership or completion of improvements occurring after the date of March 31st, when the cut-off is made for reassessing for the next fiscal year. The resulting exception to title now shows on all preliminary title reports as "any supplemental taxes which may be assessed by reason of the new Chapter."
- (19) Item F — This is self explanatory. However, it often arises when a borrower/seller has already paid taxes but the records fail to reflect it. Instead of creating a double-payment, we will hold monies until the taxes show paid and return the monies held to the borrower/seller.
- (20) Item G — Refers to any special assessments which may exist as a result of filing of assessments maps or notices such as "Mello Roos."

From this point on, the exceptions are shown in chronological sequence according to their recording priority.

- (21) Item 1 — Covenants, conditions and restrictions are generally placed on property by a subdivider so that the area being subdivided will be consistent with his general plan of development. These restrictions impose impediments, limitations, or prohibitions with respect to the use of the property and the character of the improvements.
- (22) Item 2 — Easements are “limited” rights in the land of another, entitling the holder of the right to some use or privilege. In this case, the Southern California Edison Company has the right to install and maintain a pole or pole lines only over the rear five feet of the property.
- (23) Item 3 — A deed of trust is a three party security document conveying title to land as security for the performance of an obligation. In this case, the bank probably loaned Mr. and Mrs. Smith (the trustors) the money to buy the property covered by this “report.” Should the trustors fail to make the payments on the loan, the beneficiaries (the bank who loaned the money) may declare the note all due and payable and foreclose by forcing a sale of the property. The foreclosure proceedings are handled by the trustee who is named in the deed of trust.
- (24) Item 4 — This also is a deed of trust, but note that the beneficiaries are individuals. Most likely, they were the parties who sold the property to Mr. and Mrs. Smith. This is called a “purchase money deed of trust” and is used to make up the difference between the cash paid and the first deed of trust.
- (25) The debt secured by any deed of trust can be sold like any other commodity. When it is sold, the “note” is endorsed to the party who bought it and a document referred to as an “Assignment of Deed of Trust” is recorded. The person selling the indebtedness is called the “assignor” and the party buying the note is called the “assignee”. The assignee has the same rights to foreclose as the original beneficiary.

- (26) Item 5 — A judgment is a determination by a court of law concerning the right of the parties in the action. The lien of the judgment is created when the abstract of judgment is recorded ordering the payment of money. This judgment is against the owner of the property in question. If the judgment is not paid, the judgment creditor may instruct the Marshall to levy against the real property. This means that the Marshall may force the sale of the property to pay the judgment creditor through an execution sale. Therefore, the judgment should be paid before any loan is made or the property is sold.
- (27) Item 6 — This lien was created by the failure of Mr. and Mrs. Smith to pay their Federal Income Taxes. The State of California also has the option to record a tax lien for failure to pay state income tax. The Internal Revenue Service has the option of forcing the sale of real property to satisfy the debt created by the recording of the tax lien, although this is not frequently done. It is the debt of the owner of the subject property and it must be paid before a loan is made or the property sold.
- (28) Item 7 — This item is generally the most misunderstood, since the Statement of Information contains personal questions concerning the parties to the escrow, i.e., former marriages, former addresses, employment, birthdate, Social Security Numbers, etc. The Title Company needs this information to determine whether or not documents placed on record affect the parties to the escrow. It is used in an effort to eliminate items of record against persons of same or similar names. This is particularly needed if the names are common. All of the information is held confidential and is not used for any purpose other than determining the insurability of the parties.

LENDER SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT

Explanation Page

When there is an A.L.T.A. Lenders Policy ordered in connection with a typical transaction that involves an institutional lender, a “Lenders Supplemental Report” will be delivered with the preliminary report. The purpose of the report is to reflect the property location (common address, area and/or city and structure) as well as recent transfers (last 6 months).

- (29) The supplemental report may be delivered with the preliminary report or it can be separately forwarded at a later date before the close of escrow.
- (30) Item 1 — Provides lender with assurance as to designation, street address and improvement located on subject property.
- (31) Certain savings and loans, prior to making a loan, must investigate the sales price of any sale (i.e., a paper transaction for purposes of inflating the valuation in order to obtain a larger loan) made within six months prior to their anticipated loan. Therefore, they must obtain recorded information of deeds or any transfers within that period.
